

Poll response lists inflation biggest worry

WASHINGTON - Constituents responding to Congressman Trent Lott's third annual questionnaire believe that inflation, energy and foreign aid reduction are the most critical issues facing the Congress today.

Lott is releasing the results of the poll this week in his latest newsletter to constituents. The questionnaire was mailed to each household in the Fifth Congressional District in late February.

The 20,000 South Mississippians who responded said they also favored reducing government spending, even if it means eliminating some programs they support. They also rejected across-the-board wage, price, rent, interest, dividend, and profit controls as a means of combating inflation.

South Mississippians continue to impress me with their grasp of the issues," Lott said. "They are well-informed. They know what they want out of their federal government."

The most important issues, in order, are inflation, energy, foreign aid reduction, welfare reform, crime, recession, Social Security reform, and education.

Mississippi asks Corps to restore Pearl

By ANITA DINWIDDIE

The U. S. Corps of Engineers was petitioned by members of the Pearl River Basin Development District and interested Mississippians Wednesday to restore the Pearl River to its original bed in public hearings in Picayune, Miss.

The hearings were requested by the Development District and other state officials in an effort to restore the main flow of the Pearl River to its present channel in the West Pearl in Louisiana to its former bed in the East Pearl in Mississippi.

Mansfield Downes, member of the South Mississippi Ecology Society, presented the case for the diversion to the Corps of Engineers panel headed by Colonel Drake Wilson, district commander.

Downes contends that through a series of diversions beginning possibly as early as 1850, the course of the Pearl River has shifted causing the main flow of water to enter the West Pearl just north of Picayune leaving the East Pearl River which marks the boundary between Louisiana and Mississippi almost completely dry in some spots.

"We want the Corps of Engineers to take emergency action to correct two major diversions causing the water to flow into the West Pearl in Louisiana," Downes said. "If some action is not taken, certain sections of the East Pearl River will completely dry up including the Walkiah River on which Walkiah Bluff Park is located."

Migues sentenced after guilty plea

Leroy Howard Migues, 41, well known in the Pass Christian area as "the gasser," was sentenced to a second 15-year prison term Tuesday after pleading guilty to the attempted armed robbery of a Gulfport drug store September 18, 1974.

Migues received an earlier 15-year sentence before U. S. District Judge Walter Nixon May 8 after pleading guilty to a second count of armed robbery involving the Sept. 19 holdup of the Pass Christian branch of Gulf National Bank of $26,000.

Harrison County Circuit Court Judge J. Ruble Griffin issued the second 15-year sentence Tuesday, to run concurrently with the first sentence, after Migues pled guilty to the attempted robbery of French's Drug Store in Gulfport the day before the bank holdup.

Migues asked for leniency before Judge Nixon last week, promising he would not break the law again. Migues' attorney, Jim Rose of Gulfport, said that Migues was using narcotics at the time of the bank robbery and was distraught over the loss of the custody of his children.

Migues could have received a maximum fine of $10,000 and 25 years in prison.

Migues was apprehended Oct. 4 in El Paso, Texas, when his companion, Cynthia Ilene Vick, 21, of Gulfport reported to the hospital there suffering from a gunshot wound in the chest. Federal authorities said Migues was apprehended from information received from Miss Vick shortly afterwards. Migues admitted also to shooting Miss Vick.

Miss Vick pleaded guilty to a lesser count of aiding and abetting an armed robbery last month and received a five-year suspended sentence.

Pearl River in Trouble

Public hearings to consider action to restore the Pearl River to its original bed were held Wednesday by the U. S. Corps of Engineers in Picayune. A decision on the hearings is expected within 30 days. The hearings were requested by the Pearl River Basin Development District and interested Mississippians who have complained that several man-made diversions have reduced water in the East Pearl in Mississippi to a trickle.

Former steamer route

This shallow, sluggish stream is the East Pearl River. Once a major water route for steamships in the 19th century, the river is now fed by the Hobolochitto Creek having been cut off from the main flow of the Pearl River by two diversions at Wilson's slough and Holmes Bayou.

State requests Pearl River diversion

The area of the East Pearl of most concern to Downes and the Pearl River Basin Development District stretches from Wilson's Slough at the entrance of the Walkiah River south to Holmes Bayou and the Pearl River Shoals. At present, Downes said, there is a three mile section of the East Pearl called the shoals which has become completely dry because of the two diversions to the north.

"What we now call the East Pearl River, is really not fed by the Pearl River at all," Downes said. "The East Pearl dries up completely south of Holmes Bayou. The stream that we call the East Pearl is fed by the Hobolochitto Creek. If we could get the shoals opened again, and the East Pearl restored to its original size the Pearl River could serve as a transportation route for NSTL and Port Bienville Industrial Park."

In Louisiana, officials claim that the Pearl River is presently following its natural course through the western channel. Ed Scogin, state representative from St. Tammany Parish in Louisiana, said that Louisiana would not permit a diversion of the Pearl River away from Louisiana.

Downes refuted Louisiana's argument saying, "We have the documented proof that the Pearl River is not now in its natural bed. We have old plats of townships which show the main flow of the Pearl to be in the eastern channel before 1850, and we have proof that the East Pearl was once a steamship route which would necessarily mean that it was the main channel."

Downes said that maps of the old channel of the Pearl River have been drawn up from the evidence of the old township maps by the Picayune engineering firm of Broadway and Seals.

Downes said these maps show that erosion of an earthen dam is the cause of the first major diversion through Wilson's Slough to the West Pearl. The dam was built by the Corps sometime around 1850, Downes said.

A second diversion in the area of the Walkiah River has further endangered the existence of the river, Downes said.

Because of the erosion of a levee across Moore's Bayou, water has been allowed to bypass the Walkiah River leaving it with virtually no source of water.

The main diversion, however, causing the three mile shoal section to be completely dry is a second earthen dam built on the shoals in the early 1900's by the Corps, according to Downes research, which is diverting water through Holmes Bayou into the West Pearl. The Corps of engineers denies building the dam, however, but the remains of the dam can still be clearly seen across the stream of the East Pearl, Downes says.

"We think that the Corps of Engineers built the dam because of a problem with floating logs down the river," Downes said, "But if that was the case, we contend that it was the Corps responsibility to maintain the navigation channel of the main Pearl, not to divert it to another course."

Norton Haas, Sr. of Bay St. Louis, a member of the Pearl River Development District, said that much of the problem with losing water to the West Pearl in Louisiana was a lack of knowledge and interest on the part of Mississippi residents on the situation.

"The Corps had a hearing in 1937 and only two Mississippi residents showed up to protest the diversion," Haas said. "But this time we think we have enough local support to get the Corps to correct the situation and restore the river to its natural bed. I really think that Mississippi's side of the argument is the most logical, and I think the Corps will listen to us."

The 1937 meeting to which Haas referred resulted in the construction of a sill at Pool's Bluff which diverted more water from the main Pearl into a canal in Louisiana. The canal is no longer in use, Downes said, and Mississippi will ask the Corps to remove the sill in addition to correction of the other diversions.

Downes said that a study conducted by the Corps of Engineers could take as long as three years to complete before a report is sent to the U. S. Congress for approval. He said, however, that in asking for emergency action to save the Walkiah River, he hoped to reduce the amount of time required for restoring the East Pearl River. A decision by the Corps of Engineers panel is expected within a period of 30 days, he said.

Louisiana's Pearl

The West Pearl River is seen at flood stage just past the Wilson's Slough diversion. The Pearl River Basin Development District is asking the U.S. Corps of Engineers to restore the main flow of the Pearl back to its original bed in the East

Pearl River. The restoration would also aid Louisiana residents, say district members, by reducing flood dangers in the West Pearl.

Parent advisory council plans Title I programming

The first district parent advisory council, established to formulate policy and designate areas of need in Title One appropriations in Hancock County, met Monday morning in the office of Superintendent of Education,

K.G. McCarthy.

The advisory council is a new federal guideline requiring enactment this year before local school districts can become eligible for Title I funding.

Title I programs and projects are customarily used to supplement local school programs in areas where special educational needs have been identified.

Membership of the advisory council is composed of parents of children or parent representatives selected by the parents in the school attendance areas designated as project areas.

In its first meeting Monday, the parent council chose Mrs. James A. Ladner as its chairman. Other members are Mrs. Jerry Shaw, Mrs. Aida Alley, Mrs. Tony Necaise, Mrs. Gerard Austin, Sister Joan Lorraine, and Mrs. Frank Rush.

Hancock County Title I coordinator Mrs. Helen Mestayer said that the county had applied for $68,533 in funding for the 1976 school year. Funding is awarded pending approval of projects by the state, and must be applied for yearly.

Title I programs are currently being implemented in grades one through three in all Hancock County elementary schools.

Crime commission offers reward for arrest

The Mississippi Coast Crime Commission announced this week it would pay a $1,000 reward for information leading to the identity, arrest and conviction of the slayer of Mrs. Irene Grimes Hoffman who was found murdered in her home April 29, 1975, in Pascagoula, Mississippi.

Mrs. Hoffman, a fifth grade teacher in Arlington Heights Elementary School, was beaten and slain when she apparently surprised the intruder and slayer in her home.

Earl L. Riley, Executive Director of the Crime Commission, said anyone having information concerning the identity and whereabouts of this slayer should contact the Pascagoula Police Department, and any local Police Department or Sheriff's Department, or if confidentiality is desired, call one of the Crime Commission's TIP telephone lines.

The Crime Commission's TIP telephone lines are: in Jackson County, 875-3104; in Harrison County, 863-3401; in Hancock County, 467-3401.

McLeod Park transfer ceremonies rescheduled for Friday

Ceremonies marking the official transfer of McLeod Memorial Park from the Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation to the State of Mississippi will be held on the park site at 11:30 a.m. Friday, May 16, with Governor William Waller receiving the certificate of transfer. Originally scheduled for May 9, the transfer was postponed because of weather conditions.

McLeod Park, a 328-acre park created from the old Bosworth estates and property donated by the National Space Technology Laboratories, is the second largest federal property grant to Mississippi and has been given to the state under the Legacy of Parks Program. The deed of transfer, signed by President Gerald R. Ford, will be received following ceremonies on the park site involving a number of local officials including Norton Haas, Sr., member of the Pearl River Basin Development District; Alton Kellar, president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors; Jackson Balch, manager of NSTL; George E. Wynne, president of the Pearl River Basin Development District; John D. Rutherford, Hancock County Chancery Clerk and L. J. Breaux, member of the Pearl River Basin Development District.

Presenting the deed to Governor Waller will be Robert M. Baker, Southeast Regional Director of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

The park is named in honor of Albert J. and Virginia McLeod, a pioneer timberman and his wife from South Carolina who settled on the Jourdan River in the early 1900's. McLeod was the owner of a sawmill, stove mill, planer mill, turpentine plant and general mercantile store. After McLeod's death in 1921, Mrs. McLeod, or Aunt Gin, continued to operate the store until her death in 1973 at the age of 95.

Albert McLeod was also a member of the Board of Supervisors and a member of the original commission appointed to build the Hancock County Seawall.

McLeod Memorial Park, a $1 million plus project, is being developed by the Pearl River Basin Development District's boatway program which hopes to build a series of water parks from the source of the Pearl River in Nanih Waiya, Mississippi to the NSTL installation.

Honoring the McLeods

Mrs. Virginia McLeod and Albert McLeod for whom the new McLeod Memorial Park is named first came to Hancock County in the early 1900's to establish a sawmill and other related industries which eventually employed about 200 people. Mrs. McLeod continued to operate the general store started by the couple until her death in 1973 at the age of 95.

Residents favor Navy move

Overwhelming local support for the Navy's proposed move of its Naval Oceanographic Office (NOO) from Sultland, Maryland, to NSTL facilities in Hancock County was voiced at a public hearing at the NSTL auditorium Thursday night. The public hearing was called to discuss the environmental impact of the move on the local community and the Navy employees.

Testimony supporting the move was presented by local officials including state Senator Martin Smith and Rep. Wade O. Smith, mayor and supervisors and by leaders of various community services including schools, hospitals and homebuilders to a packed audience estimated at 400 people.

"The main purpose of the meeting as far as local officials were concerned was to dispute statements contained in the Navy's environmental impact study that Louisiana and Mississippi communities surrounding the NSTL complex did not have adequate housing or community services. The proposed move would effect 1314 Navy employees, of whom 800 are expected to come to the area if the transfer is ordered."

"In 1956 when the NASA people first moved in here, our people accepted the responsibility of providing services," said Senator Martin T. Smith, representing Hancock and Pearl River Counties. "At that time our bonded indebtedness increased 500 percent. The people here know what it means to have a government facility move in. We have provided for their needs, and we think that we have grown into better communities because of it. We have shown that we can cope with it and even benefit by it."

Many of the local speakers reminded Navy panel members, Lt. Commander Larry Riley, Johnny Stephens and Commander Charles Bassett of the void left in the area when NASA pulled out of NSTL several years ago.

"I think that this move would be very appropriate to alleviate the sudden phasing out of NSTL," said State Representative Wade O. Smith of Pearl River and Stone Counties. "Our schools had hired more teachers and acquired additional costs, we built new roads and we increased other services such as the law enforcement for the NASA people. I think the U. S. government is obligated now to solve these problems as they helped to create them."

Hancock County Board of Supervisors chairman Alton Kellar added, "The people in this county have sacrificed a lot for NASA, and we are willing to sacrifice again for the Navy. We have never failed the federal government, and if you choose to move here we will do everything we can to help."

Several members of the black community appeared at the hearing to dispute statements in the environmental impact study that black people may feel apprehensive about moving to Mississippi or Louisiana. Bay St. Louis contractor Johnny Wallace advised the Navy team to "tell all my black brothers and sisters to come to Mississippi."

"This is a different part of Mississippi here on the Gulf Coast," Wallace said. "I think they will find that the opportunities are here for our people."

A second black resident, Dan Frederick, also spoke in favor of the move.

"We have our problems here," he said, "but I defy anyone from Washington, D. C. to say that their problems are any less. At least here our ghettos are not a housing tenement in Washington. If the Navy's black employees move here, it can only hasten the progress that we have made. If they come down with a progressive attitude, they can benefit from our efforts, but if they come talking about 'culture shock', then they can stay the hell away."

Other local officials also expressed the belief that the Navy employees would benefit from the move.

"I think that the recipient of the greatest benefit will be those fortunate enough to be selected to move to the Gulf Coast," said Pass Christian mayor, Steve Saucier. "For those who refuse to move, I say forgive them for they know not what they do."

Other local mayors including Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver, Waveland Alderman Dan Campion representing Mayor John Longo, Mayor Sam Maxwell of Long Beach, Mayor Arthur Lang of Gulfport and Mayor Grady Thigpen of Picayune, appeared to testify about local services including schools, hospitals, shopping areas, recreation centers and cultural attractions.

Advantages that were repeatedly listed by the local officials were a lower cost of living, lower property taxes, less traffic, less crime and a great variety of cultural and recreational centers.

Local homebuilders and realtors from Bay St. Louis,

Picayune, Pass Christian, Diamondhead, Long Beach and Gulfport cited the availability of both homes and lots ready for building in a price range of approximately $25,000 to $75,000.

President of the Hancock County Builders Association said, "You just let us know when you are coming, and we will have the houses ready for you."

Representatives from local school districts and local colleges were present with figures on the success of graduates from the local school system in many other parts of the country and on standardized national tests.

"I want to dispel the theory that Mississippi is an academic desert," said M. R. White of Pearl River Junior College. "Mississippi has seven colleges and universities and sixteen junior colleges. I would venture to say that this state has the best junior college system in the country, and I have never known of one of our graduates not being accepted into any of the major schools in the country."

Other representatives from public and private schools testified that adequate space was available for the children of the Navy employees.

The testimony heard at the public hearing Thursday was televised for the benefit of the Navy employees in Sultland, Maryland. A similar meeting had been held in Sultland last Monday where testimony concerning the move was basically negative.

No date has been set for the Navy's decision on the move. The question of the environmental impact on the communities and on the Navy employees is a major factor, however, because NSTL has already been cited as the most technically capable facility out of the approximately 12 facilities screened by the Navy.

Commander Bassett noted at the beginning of the hearing that NSTL had several unique facilities that other plants did not have including an underwater instrumentation laboratory. If the Navy does choose NSTL, it will occupy six buildings in the southwest corner of the facility valued at approximately $65 million.

Stolen car found destroyed

Waveland police are investigating a report of a stolen 1974 Ford pickup truck which disappeared from Six Acres Restaurant in Waveland Monday.

The truck, owned by Clifford R. Megehee of Waveland, was recovered yesterday by Beat 4 constable Sam Perniciaro. It had been entirely stripped and burned.

Waveland police chief Donald Dorn said there were no suspects in the theft.

New manager arrives in long sought home

After many years of travel in this country and many others, Max Berns, newly appointed manager of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce says he and his family have finally arrived in the place they really want to live. Berns, a retired navy captain from Norfolk, Virginia, officially began as chamber manager Monday.

"I guess in all the years that my wife and I have been married, we have moved about 38 times," Berns said. "By now we have a pretty good perspective of this country and others, and we have chosen the Mississippi Gulf Coast as our permanent home. We didn't just come here to live either, we want to really become a part of the community."

The new chamber manager came to Hancock County with five years' of experience as executive director of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce. He said that for the past few months he had been looking for a chamber position specifically in this area, and had applied for the job here when notified of the opening by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

"My whole family wanted to come here to make our home," he said. "My wife is from New Orleans, and her parents lived in Waveland for over 25 years. We also have a daughter who teaches at Christ Episcopal Day School, so we feel like we already belong to this area in many ways."

Berns said that his first goal as chamber manager would be to become acquainted with all of the members of the chamber and every other aspect of the county.

"I certainly don't see myself spending all of my time in the office," he said. "I want to get out and become acquainted with the entire county. I am a people oriented man, and I am particularly interested in the people here."

The new manager described his view of the manager's position as an assistant to the board of directors and the entire chamber membership in carrying out programs for the county.

"I didn't come here with any preconceived ideas of what is good for Hancock County. After all, what is good for one place is not necessarily good for another. So I will maintain the closest possible association with the total county, and try to carry out what the board feels is best for the county."

Berns said he plans to meet often with the board of directors during his first months in office to work out a schedule of programs for the county.

The Berns have four children, Judy Berns, 30, an actress living in Hollywood, California, Tom Berns, 28, a Lieutenant in the U. S. Navy, Suzy Berns, 24, a teacher at Christ Episcopal Day School, and Barbie Berns, 15, who will attend school in Bay St. Louis next year.

Barricade blamed for two car collision

Two Waveland residents received minor injuries last Thursday after their car was struck by a second auto on South Beach Boulevard at approximately 8:10 a.m.

Investigating officers said Mrs. Lucille Dahn and her son Nicholas were treated and released by Slidell Hospital after a car driven by Nancy M. Dwyer of Waveland crossed lanes and struck the Dahn vehicle.

Officers said Ms. Dwyer lost control after her car skidded to avoid a barricade across South Beach near an intersection with Lafitte Drive. Police said Ms. Dwyer's car spun completely around, striking the Dahn car in the rear.

Police said the barricade had been placed across the road to warn motorists of several potholes in the road. Ms. Dwyer was issued a ticket for speeding.

Pass man files $1.5 million damage suit

A Pass Christian man filed a $1.5 million federal suit in U. S. District Court in Biloxi Tuesday charging the state highway patrol under Governor William Waller with practicing "Gestapo tactics" during a May 3 arrest near the Louisiana-Mississippi state line on Interstate 10.

Others named in the suit filed by John Deffes, an employee of Diamondhead, include State Commissioner of Public Safety W. O. Dillard, assistant highway patrol inspector George Saxon, Hancock County Justice of the Peace Lee Klein, state highway patrolman Clyde Hester, and Harrison County assistant district attorney John C. Johnson.

The suit alleges that the highway patrol stopped cars at the roadblock under the pretext of a driver's license check and then began to search the car under the pretext that they smelled Deffes further states in his suit that he was dragged from his car and manhandled by arresting officers before being booked for improper driver's license, expired inspection sticker, failure to obey a police officer, and disorderly conduct.

The suit further states that Deffes was denied the due process of law by Lee Klein who reportedly "conducted a kangaroo court" and John Johnson who threatened Deffes' attorney, Gerald Emil.

The "roadblock and battleground" set up on I-10, the suit alleges, restricted and prevented the free flow of traffic across state lines.

Fire department expands services

The Henderson Point-Pass Christian Isles Volunteer Fire Department will assume responsibility for answering calls from the Timber Ridge and Pine Point Shores area as well as Henderson Point and Pass Christian Isles effective immediately according to Fire Chief Lucian Dinapolis.

The two areas were previously under the Harrison County Fire Department. Dinapolis said anyone in the areas mentioned requesting emergency service should call the Pass Christian Fire Department at 452-4141 who will then dispatch the volunteer fire department to the scene.

Other contributors to the fair are the Rotary Club, Hancock General Hospital's Women's Auxiliary, Senior Citizens, and the Women of Christ Episcopal Church.

Attorney general advises independents

Candidates for public office who plan to run as independents in the November 4 general election should qualify to run by Friday, June 6, according to a statement from state attorney general A. F. Summer this week.

Summer said that action taken by the 1975 legislature will require all candidates who run as independents to qualify to run under the same deadline as candidates running under party primaries. Although the legislature's action is subject to approval by the U. S. Justice Department under provisions of the 1964 Voting Rights Act, Summer advised that independents take precautionary steps to avoid being disallowed later.

Summer said "to be on the safe side" candidates should qualify as if the law change had been approved by the Justice Department. In previous years, independents have been allowed under state laws to qualify after the party primaries.

The chances are you will be using more electricity this summer.

Here's how to get maximum air conditioning efficiency:

1. Energy conservation: To help you save money on air conditioning and get the most efficient use of your electric service, set the thermostat at the highest comfortable temperature, usually about 78°.
2. Filters: Clean or change air conditioning filters at least once a month. Dirty filters make the unit work harder and cause higher operating costs.
3. Sunlight: Your air conditioning unit works extra hard to combat heat from direct sunlight. Awnings, shutters, and drapes over windows provide the best protection from sun's rays. Keep them drawn during the sunniest part of the day.
4. Nighttime: If unit has been off during a cool night, give it an early start the next morning before a new day's summer heat fills the house.
5. Air flow: Make certain that you have free passage of air to and from your unit both inside and outside your house.
6. Insulation: Adequate insulation will result in lower operating costs. Usually six inches in the ceiling and four inches in walls is suggested. Don't forget to weatherstrip windows and doors, too!

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

Weather, they say, is talked about more than any single event on the calendar. And well it might be, as the weather affects everyone; it is responsible for most of the good things in life and plays a part in all of the bad! And as someone (wasn't it Mark Twain?) said, everyone talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it!

One night last week we had a series of terrific thunderstorms and high winds, which caused great destruction and scared the living daylights out of lots of people. As we lay snug in our bed and watched the lightning streak the sky while the house shuddered from the crash of thunder and howling wind, we recalled similar storms: the one on Long Island in the '40's which blocked almost every road with fallen trees, the one in Minnesota which killed cattle - and people - in the fields and on the roads preceding a temperature drop to minus - 40 degrees, in Jamaica when the wind sucked all the water from the east coast bays and totally destroyed their marine life, and in Siberia where lightning and winds flattened whole forests. Even in our boyhood home in Pennsylvania there was something majestic in the rolling thunder that rumbled through the hills down the Allegheny river.

We have noticed over the years that the southwest corner of our State, more often than not, escapes the worst buffeting. Storms come, it is true, from all directions, but after a side-swiping whack at our town, they seem to say, "Oh, you're too pretty a place to get messed up, so we'll just jog along to Picayune" - or Gulfport and Biloxi. It's true there was one storm called Camille which was terrible beyond words, when water from the Bay engulfed our house and stood three feet high on the second floor, but anyone along the Gulf Coast will tell you that Camille was an exceptional storm. Official records are pretty scanty about high winds and water over the years, but so far as we can find out the hurricane and flood of 1927 caused the most distress and destruction along the Coast. And as the people were digging out and trying to get back to normal, along came the Great Depression, which didn't help anyone.

Springtime can be beautiful in our State, and if this year it is falling a little short of perfection, all you have to do to cheer you up is to look at the weather the northern and central sections of the country are having. One day about a week ago, when our temperature stood at 85 degrees, a friend called us from the lovely little city of Flagstaff and reported that it was just 14 above zero there!

Washington Report

HEALTH PERSONNEL ACTS
Mississippi generally has excellent health services, but according to the latest U.S. Census our state has only 89 doctors for every 100,000 people.

That's the lowest physician-population ratio in the nation and it reflects a growing need for nurses and physicians. There is, indeed, a very real need - particularly in rural Mississippi - for additional health services personnel.

That's why I voted last week for the National Health Service Corps Amendments of 1975, which passed the House by a vote of 399-4. Basically, H. R. 4114 - which I handled on the floor for the House Rules Committee - is a simple extension of the National Health Service Corps program. It would authorize $16 million for Fiscal Year 1976 and $30 million for Fiscal Year 1977.

The major revisions called for by H. R. 4114 include an authorization bonus of up to $1,000 per month to members of the NHSC to make their income competitive with other physicians in the area. Any federal money paid for such personnel and services, however, must be REPAID by the medical entity to which such personnel are assigned.

It also provides for the designation of medically underserved populations by the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

This is NOT a national health insurance program. It is simply a system that encourages participation by qualified medical personnel.

Representatives of medically underserved communities may inquire about a physician through the National Health Service Corps program by calling Mr. Robert Schollard, NHSC representative, in Atlanta at 404-526-3877.

Another health-related bill we considered and passed last week was the Nurses Training Act of 1975, which provides financial assistance for students in nursing schools, including those students who want to seek advanced degrees. It also includes federal assistance for the construction of nursing facilities.

As I have pointed out many times, I am not at all hesitant to vote for a measure that will render a much-needed service to the people of this country. The National Health Service Corps Amendments and the Nurses Training Act happen to fit into that category.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) was born by default. Truman's Reorganization Act of 1949 made it possible for Nixon to set up the agency. Either House could have rejected it, but since neither did it automatically became law on Dec. 2, 1970.

EPA has harnessed the oil and automobile industries with pollution controls costing the consumer public billions of dollars; it has wasted millions of barrels of fuel through hurried attempts at emission control systems; it has forced utilities and industrial plants into crash programs to eliminate undesirable emissions.

Of course EPA should be abolished. It is typical of most federal regulatory agencies. They are illit in that there is no constitutional authorization. They are spawned under a cloud, pressured by minority groups, without adequate knowledge and sufficient research to warrant justification. EPA is a fiasco without limit. If not killed, it will kill our liberty and despoil our economy. Leo McNally, Gulfport

Reasonable Charges Under Medicare

"What is a reasonable charge?" "How does Medicare decide what is a reasonable charge?" "What happens if my doctor's charge is more than Medicare's reasonable charge?"

These are the questions beneficiaries often ask about medical insurance payments under Medicare, according to Charles E. Wofford, social security district manager in Gulfport.

"Under the Medicare law," Wofford said, "payments under medical insurance are based on the reasonable charges for covered services and supplies. This 'reasonable charge' concept has been a major source of confusion to beneficiaries."

To help beneficiaries get a better understanding of this concept, a detailed explanation of how reasonable charges are determined is contained in a completely new edition of Your Medicare Handbook published by the Social Security Administration in 1974. The new handbook was mailed to all Medicare beneficiaries and to health care providers late last year.

"Basically," Wofford said, "the 'reasonable charge' simply means the amount on which Medicare bases its payment for a covered service or supply. And the reasonable charge for a covered service or supply in a particular area is determined by the Medicare carrier for that area."

The carrier is an organization selected by the Social Security Administration to handle medical insurance payments. Carriers use a specific formula, which is based on the Medicare law, to determine reasonable charges.

"Each year," Wofford said, "the carrier reviews all the charges made by doctors and suppliers in the previous calendar year."

"First, the carrier determines the amount that each doctor and supplier usually charged for each service or supply in the previous calendar year. This is called the customary charge."

"Next, the carrier determines what amount is high enough to include the customary charge in three out of four bills submitted in the previous year. This is called the prevailing charge."

"Then, when a medical insurance claim is submitted for payment, the carrier compares the actual charge shown on the claim to the customary and prevailing charges for that service or supply."

"The reasonable charge under Medicare will be either the customary charge, the prevailing charge, or the actual charge, whichever is lowest," Wofford said.

"The actual charge can be higher than the reasonable charge set by Medicare. 'This can happen' Wofford said, "because the doctor or supplier has recently raised his charge and it has not been in effect long enough to be included in Medicare's annual review. In other cases, of course, it could be that the doctor or supplier has higher charges for the particular service or supply than most other doctors and suppliers in the beneficiary's area."

How much of the reasonable charge does Medicare pay? "Medicare does not pay the first $60 of covered medical expenses in a year," Wofford said. "After this medical insurance deductible, medical insurance generally pays 80 percent of the reasonable charges for additional covered services for the rest of the year."

Because the reasonable charge set by Medicare is sometimes less than the actual charge, beneficiaries should ask in advance if their doctor or supplier will accept assignment of the medical insurance payment.

"When the doctor or supplier accepts assignment," Wofford explained, "it means that he will apply for the medical insurance payment and will accept the reasonable charge as his full charge. Under this method of payment, Medicare pays him 80 percent of the reasonable charge. He can charge the beneficiary only for any of the $60 deductible not yet met, the remaining 20 percent of the reasonable charge and, of course, for any services not covered by Medicare."

But what happens if the doctor or supplier does not accept assignment? "Then the beneficiary applies for the payment," Wofford said, "and Medicare pays him 80 percent of the reasonable charge. Under this payment method, the doctor's or supplier's charge is not limited to the reasonable charge set by Medicare."

For more information about reasonable charges and how payments by Medicare's medical insurance are made, beneficiaries can read their Medicare handbook. "Anyone who did not get a handbook can pick up a copy at any social security office," Wofford said. "And, if a beneficiary needs help in applying for medical insurance payments, he can call any social security office."

SOYBEANS

Pre-emergence herbicides applied at planting time will be of most value when the seedbed is smooth and moist and when rainfall occurs within a week.

Ask IRS

Q. What should I do if I move before my refund comes?

A. Leave a forwarding address with the post office so that the refund can be delivered to your new address. Failure to do this has delayed the refunds of many taxpayers until a current address could be obtained.

Q. I got married last December. Can my wife and I file a joint return for 1974?

A. Yes, if you are married on the last day of your tax year, the IRS considers you as married for the entire year. So, you can file a joint return with your wife for 1974, but neither of you can be claimed as a dependent on the return of another taxpayer.

Q. I rent out some land to a farmer nearby. Should I include the rent payments I receive as farm or rental income?

A. Report the rent payments you receive on your land as rental income on Schedule E and attach it to your Form 1040 when you file. Unless you materially participate in the business of farming, the rents you receive are not considered farm income.

Use the chemical best suited to your soil type and the kind of weeds you must control.

There seems to be a lot of interest in tank mixtures and dual treatments in an effort to control both grasses and broadleaf weeds. Each component of a mixture will react as it would if applied alone. Few, if any, mixtures will eliminate the need for post emergence herbicide applications for control of broadleaf weeds.

You have a critical decision to make four or five days after planting. If weeds are coming up with the soybeans, the use of dinoseb (DNBP) or a mixture of dinoseb plus naptalam is needed. Failure to control weeds at this stage may have profound effects throughout the season.

Cracking stage applications should be made before the soybeans have unfolded the first true leaves and when the soil surface is dry.

BRUCELLOSIS

The goal is a 100 percent vaccination of replacement heifers, both dairy and beef - for brucellosis, that is.

Brucellosis, also called bang's disease, is a serious economic problem. It is costly in aborted calves, non-breeder cows and the loss of brood cows that are reactors and must be sold for slaughter.

Farmers desiring more information should check with the county extension office, their local veterinarian or the state veterinarian.

Bicentennial News

By JOE PILET

John K. McKenna has accepted an appointment as coordinator for the Hancock County Bay-Waveland Bicentennial Committee.

Bro. Pierre St. Pierre, retiring coordinator, introduced McKenna to the group and in acknowledgement of his new duties McKenna said: "I will reserve my comments and plans until I know more about the background of the organization."

The committee members represent some 18 diversified interests within the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland and within the County of Hancock. Their purpose is to separately promote projects within their organizations which are bicentennial related, meeting once monthly with their coordinator for directives.

Mayor of Waveland, John Longo, heads the Finance Committee; Chancery Clerk "Big" John Rutherford serves as treasurer; James N. Travira represents the Hancock County Board of Supervisors; Mayor of Bay St. Louis, Warren Carver heads the City Beautification project; Lou Fernandez who heads Hancock County's Health and Sanitation Department together with Mrs. Peggy Gibbens represent Hancock County's newly organized Historic group; Mrs. Fred Wagner, active in several civic circles and head of the group's telephone committee says she prefers to be "a-member-at-large;" Mmes. Harris Boudreaux and Elda Duke represent the Auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars; Mrs. Lelwyn Nybo represents the City-County Public Library; Perry Gibson represents the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Richard Shadoin, Bay St. Louis Business woman and Mrs. Rene deMontluzin head the committee concerned with education.

Mrs. Jeannette Monti represents the Altrusa Club; Commissioner Lucien Kidd of the City of Bay St. Louis is also a committee member. Representatives from the Diamondhead area include Paul Montjoy and Mrs. Kay Gex. Representing the Gulfcoast Chapter, National Society Daughters of the American Revolution is Mrs. Nunez C. (Joe) Pilet who serves as the secretary and public relations committee woman for the group.

Meetings are called for the second Wednesday in each month, meeting place in the Board Room of the Board of Supervisors which is on the second floor of the Hancock County Court House at 7 p.m.

Plans for the early fall include a public ceremony scheduled for October 9, at which time dignitaries from the State Bicentennial Committee will make presentation of official flags to county and cities' representatives and also present certificates of appreciation to those who have made outstanding contributions to the endeavor.

Plans for the Bicentennial Year include a parade and fireworks display.

FABRIC SOFTENER SPOTS

When fabric softener is poured directly on garments, it causes a blotchy stain of greenish-gray or bluish-gray that looks like oil. How many consumers incorrectly assume that oil has leaked into the washer.

To remove, vigorously rub with bar soap such as Ivory, then wash. If stain remains, saturate with rubbing or isopropyl alcohol or liquid spot remover. Follow with a regular wash. If a large quantity of items is involved, dry cleaning is recommended.

HOW TO REMOVE LIPSTICK

Professional cleaning may be required to remove lipstick. However, try these:

1. Rubbing with a piece of bread. Stain will sometimes roll off with the crumbs. Then sponge with drycleaning fluid.

2. Rub liquid detergent into dampened stain. Work in until outline of stain is gone, then rinse well. If stain remains, use a bleach suitable for the fabric. Rinse thoroughly.

3. If stain persists, rub vaseline into the spot and sponge again with cleaning fluid.

4. Another method is sponging with denatured alcohol to which a few drops of ammonia have been added.

GASOLINE CAN BE DYNAMITE

The arrival of spring means the beauty of green grass. But it also means the mowing of lawns. As a result many families may be buying and storing gasoline around the home. Don't let carelessness with gasoline cause an accident to you or your home.

How many sad but true stories do you know about gasoline misuse? Don't let your family add to them.

Gasoline is extremely dangerous. Its vapors are heavier than air and can flow unseen along the ground. It can be ignited by a flame or spark from a long distance.

Veterans Information

Q - With economic conditions as bad as they were the past year, how many veterans were able to get GI home loans from the Veterans Administration?

A - According to VA's Annual Report for fiscal year 1974, the agency approved 306,188 home loans during that period - a good year, considering market conditions.

Q - Does the Veterans Administration assist veterans in finding jobs during these times of high unemployment?

A - Yes. Although the Labor Department has primary responsibility, job assistance for veterans is available also through Veterans Assistance Centers in 72 major cities. Suggest unemployed veterans check local telephone directories for locations of these centers after first registering with local state employment offices.

Q - Because I received an honorable discharge from the Army two years ago and have decided to live abroad a friend suggested I check with the Veterans Administration. Why should I?

A - To learn how residence abroad affects veterans benefits. If you have a service-connected disability, for example, you should obtain a statement from the VA office which maintains your medical records. Then should the need arise, the statement and an application for medical benefits could be presented to the American Embassy or consular office in the country of travel or residence.

Q - My husband was killed during military service in Vietnam. I'd like to use my widow's education benefits to attend a university in Paris. Will the Veterans Administration pay my education assistance there?

A - Wives, widows and children of veterans whose deaths or permanent total disabilities were service-connected may receive education benefits while attending approved foreign institution of higher learning.

NASA satellites assess flood damage

NASA Earth Resources satellites are presently being used to map areas currently flooded by the Mississippi River and to help the states assess damage and plan disaster relief.

In response to requests from the governors of Louisiana and Mississippi, photos from NASA's Earth Resources survey satellites, LANDSAT-1 and LANDSAT-2, have been delivered to the states within 36 hours after passing over the flooded areas.

Data acquired by electronic scanners aboard the satellites is transmitted immediately to a ground station at the Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md. and processed there into black-and-white transparencies.

The pictures are then flown to NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) in Bay St. Louis for further processing and analysis by federal and state experts to measure the acreage inundated and identify land uses—urban, cropland, pasture, forest—of the flooded areas.

After the 1973 Mississippi flood, which resulted in extensive damage and loss of life, Louisiana arranged for members of its Office of State Planning to receive special training in remote image analysis at the Department of the Interior's Earth Resources Observations Systems (EROS) Applications Assistance Facility, operated by the U. S. Geological Survey, at NSTL.

Computer-produced land use maps were obtained under a cooperative agreement between the Louisiana State Planning Office and the Department of the Interior.

When it became evident that the 1975 flood posed a serious threat to Louisiana, arrangements were made for trained personnel to use the EROS Applications Assistance Facility at NSTL to delineate flooded areas, using LANDSAT imagery and existing maps and techniques.

Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards requested imagery from the LANDSAT spacecraft within 24-48 hours after the satellite sweeps over the lower Mississippi region.

Through the Louisiana Technology Transfer Office in residence at NSTL, arrangements were made for special photographic work to be done for the project by NSTL laboratories on a reimbursable basis.

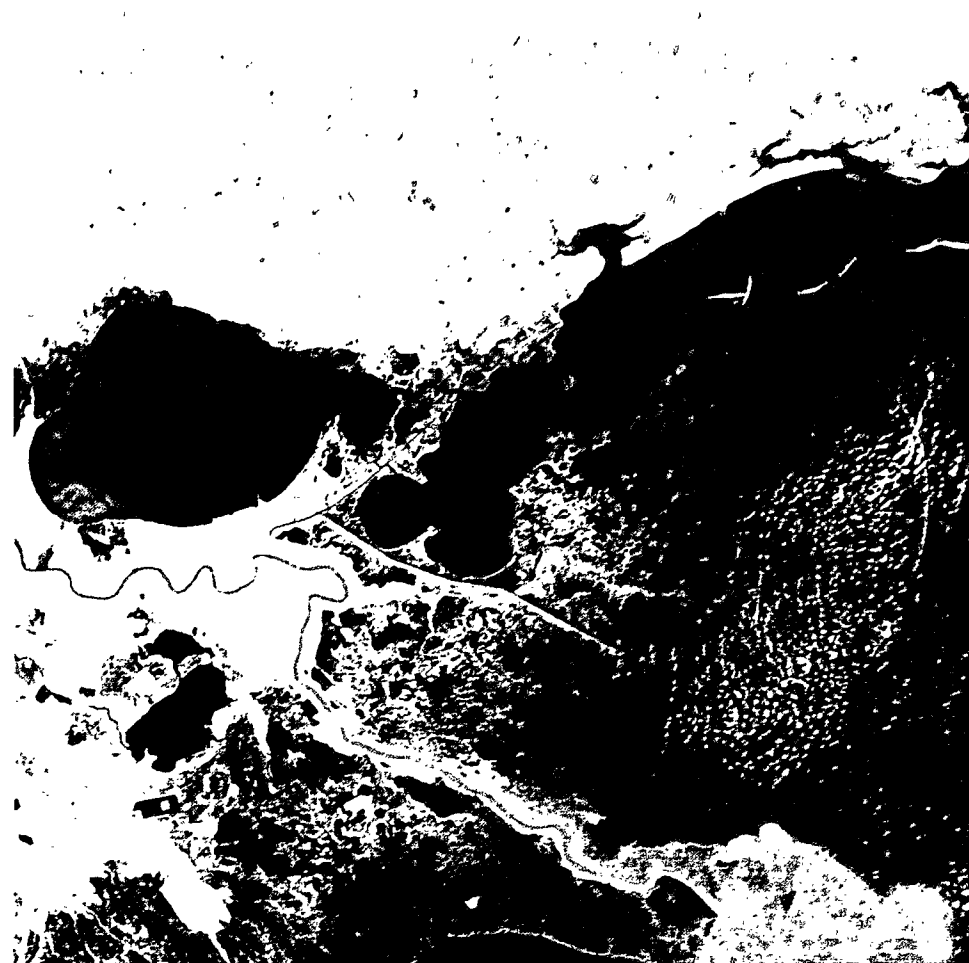

The final product, made available to parish and county agents, state planners and civil defense personnel, is intended to help assess damage caused by the flood to farm lands, forest and urban areas.

Governor William Waller of Mississippi also requested "real-time" satellite imagery and flood mapping from the administrator of NASA, James C. Fletcher.

The data was delivered to the NASA Earth Resources laboratory (ERL) at NSTL and was interpreted by ERL personnel with Mississippi personnel observing for the purpose of learning how to implement the interpretative techniques.

Immediate use of the flood-watch information on Mississippi was made by the state Civil Defense Agency and the Mississippi National Guard in the preparation and execution of evacuation plans and in providing damage assessment information for the Governor.

Dr. P. T. Bankston, Governor's Science Advisor and Director of the NASA-NSTL, Mississippi Office of Science and Technology said of the operation, "Mississippi anticipated a secondary flood in early May resulting from the upper Midwest snow pack melt—possibly greater and more damaging than the April flood.

Businessmen invited to sales seminar

Mississippians have great sales opportunities in Near East countries as discovered by the Governor's recent Trade Mission to the area.

To bring this message to the ears of Mississippi businessmen, a seminar will be held May 16 at the Broadwater Beach Hotel in Biloxi beginning at 2 p.m.

Paul Fugate, secretary of the Mississippi Marketing Council and direction of the mission, along with members of the mission will give a first hand evaluation of the market potential in each of the countries visited.

The Foreign Agricultural Service in Washington is sending its market development officer, Daniel Sheppard, who travels frequently to the Arab countries. He will cite specific needs for agricultural commodities that Mississippi can supply.

A high ranking Iraq government representative will be on the panel to discuss trade arrangements with his country.

A question and answer period will close the panel session to allow individual discussions. Representatives from steamship companies who have service to these countries have been invited to attend as well as foreign freight forwarders and bankers. These representatives will be available for individual consultations.

Expansion of corps authority draws criticism

WASHINGTON, D.C. Senator John C. Stennis today announced his strong opposition to the expansion of Federal authority over the disposal of dredged or fill material in streams or wetlands.

The proposed regulations published by the Corps of Engineers in the Federal Register on May 6 invited public comments on four alternative proposals. The strongest of the four would require a permit for earth work around any body of water, even a stock pond. The least strong of the alternatives would limit jurisdiction to navigable rivers and their major tributaries and would essentially delegate most permit authority to states.

"The proposed regulations are extreme, in my opinion," Stennis said. "I intend to look into the matter thoroughly during the course of the hearings that I am presently conducting, as Chairman of the Public Works Subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee, on water resources projects."

"The issuance of these regulations was directed by a Federal District Court, which ruled that under the Water Pollution Control Act of 1972, the authority of the Corps of Engineers to regulate the disposal of dredged or fill material goes beyond navigable waters to include all waters of the United States," Stennis said. "It is my understanding that the Environmental Protection Agency is pressing for these strong Federal controls under the Clean Water Act. The responsibility of the Corps of Engineers is traditionally limited to navigable waters and I do not believe the Corps of Engineers is interested in trying to monitor every earth moving operation around any stream or pond however small."

Stennis said that because of the wide impact of the court decision, he hoped that it would be appealed. He said that he understands that there apparently was an expectation on the part of the court that the matter would be taken to a higher court because of the magnitude of the effects, and that the Corps of Engineers would welcome an appeal.

"The final form of the regulations, to be made at some time after June 6, 1975," Stennis said, "will take into account the public comments to the four alternatives offered. I hope that whatever regulations might finally be adopted can be held down to something reasonable and sensible, with the absolute minimum of Federal interference with the activities of citizens, as for example farmers going about their day to day business."

"The Clean Water Act was not intended to be used to establish a permit system that would harass the people," Stennis concluded, "and I will continue to do everything I can to make certain that whatever final regulations may be adopted will be reasonable and something which our farmers and landowners can live with."

Civil service begins new procedure

The U. S. Civil Service Commission begins a new program of recruiting and examining for Federal employment through the Commission's Jackson Area Office today said John W. Clark, area manager.

Clark said the new system will work very simply from the public's standpoint. People interested in non-postal Federal employment in Mississippi need only visit or call toll-free the Job Information Center in Jackson. They will be given information on expected job vacancies and probability of their being considered for a job. Those interested will be given information on qualification requirements and application procedures.

Vacancy information will be televised on the Job Bank Program. Job Bank is shown at 7:30 and 10:30 each day on all Educational Television stations located throughout Mississippi.

There is no change in the basic merit system of open publicity on job opportunities, free competition, rating of candidates against job-related requirements, and selection from among the top three candidates available without regard to race, religion, sex, national origin, political affiliation or any other non-merit factor.

Board approves application for Stennis funds

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors approved a pre-application for a Federal Aviation Administration grant of $150,000 for a taxiway extension at Stennis International Airport Monday.

Port and Harbor Director Wilson Webre told the board that he had originally planned to finance the 1300 foot extension with a $25,000 savings from an original FAA construction grant, but the agency informed him that a new application was necessary. The taxiway extension will be financed 75 percent by the FAA and 25 percent by Hancock County.

The supervisors also approved construction of a roadway into lot 49 owned by Bienville Steel in Bienville Industrial Park. Webre advised approval of the resolution as the company had paid the required 10 percent of the purchase price for the 21.1 acres of land.

In other action the board approved a resolution supporting the proposed move of the Naval Oceanographic Office from Suitland, Maryland to the NSTL site. "We need the employment for our people here, and this is something that will really help us in the county," said board president Dolph Kellar.

Herring, Clinkscales lead Coast Episcopal

Steve Herring and Perry Clinkscales have been selected valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively for Coast Episcopal High School graduation ceremonies May 25.

Herring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack R. Herring of Long Beach, has served as vice president of the National Honor Society, student council representative and vice president of the junior class. He was a school science fair winner for four straight years and is a member of the French club, photography club and ecology club.

Herring was also a member of the year book staff, the drama club and won the VFW speech award. He has served as an office aide in the U. S. Senate, participated in the foreign program and placed highest on the National French Proficiency Examination.

He was recently selected for Who's Who among American High School Students. Clinkscales, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Clinkscales of Slidell, is a member of the National Honor Society, Who's Who among American High School Students, the National Honor Society of student leaders, the Society for Outstanding American High School Students and a member of the tennis and basketball teams.

He was president of the photography club, a member of the ecology club, vice-president of the Student Council, treasurer of the senior class, and a member of both the newspaper and yearbook staffs.

He participated in National Science Foundation's Student Science training program at Mississippi College and plans to attend Rice University in Houston this fall.

Graduation ceremonies at Coast Episcopal will be held at 8 p.m. May 25 at Christ Episcopal Church.

Producers 'egged on' during national poultry week

Mississippi egg producers, whose hens produced 284 million eggs during the months of January and February this year, are being honored during Poultry and Egg Week, May 11-17.

Mississippi egg producers ranked 14th nationwide in egg production in 1973, a substantial jump from the 26th position held in 1950. Statistics also show that by 1973 Mississippi ranked fifth nationally in the number of broilers.

Mississippi egg farms have, in general, become more modern since the 1950 rankings. Most are mechanized, containing feed carts and automatic watering devices.

Eggs are higher in nutritive value in recent years because of the addition of nutrients to the hens' rations. The modern hen's diet surpasses in quality, if not in flavor, the diet of humans.

The temperature of an egg when it is laid is 105 degrees, that of the body of a hen. A freshly laid egg must be cooled promptly and held in a cool place in order to maintain its high quality. In a modern egg farm, eggs are taken from the chicken house to the cooled processing plant where they are washed, candled and graded.

Candling is a method of determining the egg's quality without removing it from the shell. It consists of rotating a strong light behind the egg and allowing cracks, blood spots and other defects to be seen.

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce inspectors make regular visits to the egg processing plants.

Portable candling devices and scales enable the inspectors to check for defects and proper weights. Minimum weights per dozen are: 18 ounces, small; 21 ounces, medium; 24 ounces, large; 27 ounces, extra large; and 32 ounces, jumbo.

No small operation

The modern egg farm in Mississippi houses thousands of hens producing a constant stream of eggs each day that are conveyed mechanically to processing plants where they are cooled and graded for the market.

Chicken to chicken

Two hens take time out to discuss "chicken to chicken" during a break in the egg production.

St. Clare's School News

Kindergarten students will entertain their mothers with a wicker roast at 10 a.m. Friday, May 16, in Buccaneer Park.

Eighth graders will go on a two-day field trip May 15 and 16 to Jackson, Vicksburg and surrounding areas. The group will be accompanied by their teacher, Miss Harriet Bellone and some of the parents.

St. Clare's School picnic for grades first through eighth will be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. May 19 in Buccaneer Park.

Nursery closing exercises will be held at 2 p.m. and Kindergarten exercises at 7:30 p.m. May 21 in St. Clare's Parish Hall.

Eighth Grade graduation will be held at 6 p.m. May 22 in St. Clare's Church, Waveland. Refreshments will be served in the Parish Hall after Mass. Parents, relatives and friends are invited to attend.

St. Clare's School will close May 23 after the 8:45 a.m. Mass. Reports will be distributed and dismissal will be at approximately 9:45 a.m.

St. Clare's seventh grade students made a field trip to Beauvoir Jefferson Davis Shrine, Biloxi, Monday. They were accompanied by their teacher Mrs. Lester Green.

The sorting process

A worker at an egg farm near Wiggins, Mississippi operates the sorting machine which grades the eggs. Next the eggs will go through the candling process to be checked for defects before they are ready for the market.

Bay-Waveland bands perform at awards concert

Bay St. Louis and Waveland school bands presented their annual spring concert May 9, at the Bay Junior High auditorium.

The evening's festivities began with a selection of tunes performed by the combined bands from North Bay and Waveland Elementary Schools, under the direction of Don Kilbourne. At the conclusion of the elementary concert, the Bay Junior High School band presented its spring program, also directed by Kilbourne.

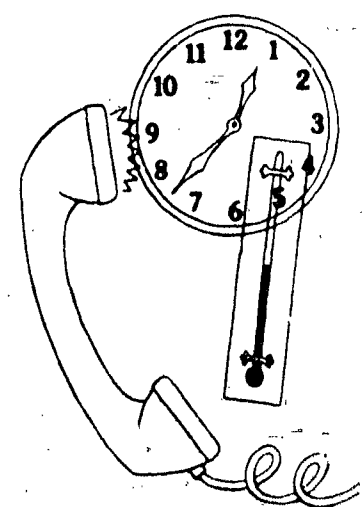

The Bay High School band, directed by Joseph Caribauda, performed its program which included "A Testament of an American," narrated by Paul Scianna.

Following the conclusion of the concert, awards were presented by both directors.

Recipients of the outstanding elementary bandsman award were Andrew Haas, Waveland Elementary School, and Wayne Johnston, North Bay Elementary School. The outstanding junior high bandsman trophy was awarded to Vickie Smith. Students receiving trophies from the high school band were Anthony Sones, for outstanding boy member; Peggy Smith, for outstanding girl member; Sammy Hurlbert, for most improved member; Debbie Langenbaker, "pride award"; and Niles Blaize, recipient of the Nereids merit award.

Plaques were presented for dedicated service to the Bay High "Tiger Pride" Band. Recipients of these awards were Mrs. Bruce Bourgeois and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ferrell.

Miss Murtagh honored at luncheon

Miss Evelyn Claire Murtagh, bride-elect of Gary Yarborough, was honored with a luncheon May 7 hosted by her aunts Mrs. Charles Breath Jr. and Mrs. Horace Kergosien at the Breath home, North Beach Boulevard.

An arrangement of spring blossoms, flanked by silver candelabra holding pale yellow tapers, centered the table and spring flower arrangements were used throughout the reception rooms.

Miss Murtagh, who wore a flame colored tulle dress for the occasion, her mother, Mrs. Edward Murtagh and the prospective groom's mother, Mrs. Claude Yarborough and his grandmother, Mrs. August McKay, were presented white carnation corsages.

Miss Murtagh and Mr. Yarborough will be married Friday, May 30.

Space age concept

Education for pre-schoolers of low income families was a space age concept until 1965 when the head start program first began nationally. New children all over the country like these from the Bay-Waveland head start center enjoy educational trips to places like the National Space Technology Laboratories as well as gain simple learning skills.

Head start celebrates tenth anniversary

The Hancock County head start center will join celebrations for the tenth anniversary of the national head start program from 2 to 4 p.m. Friday, May 16, at the Bay-Waveland center at St. Rose de Lima cafeteria.

City officials, former directors, volunteers, employees and citizens of Hancock County will attend the ceremonies which will focus on the importance of child development programs.

The Hancock head start center, as well as other centers across the nation, offers health services to children of low income families and aids parents in the early years of their children's development, said director Sullivan Bell.

The Bay-Waveland head start center, established in 1967, presently operates six units at St. Rose de Lima

Would you buy 86.36 pants? Under the metric system you would, if you now wear size 34, because that's the equivalent in centimeters of 34 inches. Metric terminology will become more familiar as our country goes through a metric transition. Possibly within 10 years, we will have converted completely to this decimal system of measure.

The change will take time because there are complications like product package and bottle sizes, dimensions of tools and machinery, to name only a few.

The more we learn about the metric system now, the less trouble we'll have in adjusting to the conversion. Mississippi is a leader in metric education. Teachers in our schools are beginning to teach youngsters the system. The Mississippi Educational Television Network has produced an educational series on the metric system which also is being used on educational networks nationwide. Jenkins named MVP

West Gulf All Stars selected

By DAVID PIERSON
Echo Sports Editor

Three players each from St. Stanislaus and Pass High School, and two players from Bay High and two from Long Beach make up the Echo's first West Gulf Coast All Star Team with Pirate catcher Mark Jenkins being selected the outstanding player-of-the-year.

The team — consisting of six seniors, two juniors, and two sophomores — is made up of two pitchers and one player at each remaining position.

Mark Jenkins
Catcher

Mark Jenkins of Pass High, a senior also selected the most outstanding player of the area in 1975 and recently named to the All-Pascagoula River Conference baseball team, led all the area hitters with a .429 batting average. He also drove in 12 runs for the Pirates this year.

After starting the season slowly, Jenkins batted .667 in one week to earn the Player-of-the-Week distinction and to raise his average at the mid-season point to .400. His average never dipped lower than that mark the rest of the season.

Considered by Coach Malcolm Gordon to be the team leader of the Pirates, Jenkins constantly talks to his pitchers and teammates on defense to keep them on their toes. Also known as a talker behind the plate, Jenkins has the ability to upset the batter's concentration and give the pitcher any added edge in the ball game.

His quick release, fine arm, and willingness to throw the ball kept opposing baserunners honest.

Bill Ginn
First Baseman

One of only two sophomores to make the all star team, Bill Ginn of Bay High was second on the team in run production only to Niles Blaize. His six RBI's and nine runs scored fell one short of Blaize's total of 16.

Finishing with a strong .342, Ginn showed that he could hit for average as a sophomore. The lefthander banged out three doubles and a triple but was also capable of getting on base without using his bat. He walked 10 times in 14 games. Ginn, however, is not a walker once he reaches first base. A thief on the base paths, Ginn swiped seven bases during the season.

He usually plays in the outfield for the Tigers but on occasions has played at first base because of his long reach.

Bob Richards
Second Baseman

Long Beach senior Bob Richards, recently named as the starting second baseman for the South State team for the senior all star game to be played June 13 in Jackson, provided the Bearcats with steady defensive play and clutch hits throughout the season.

Whenever the Bearcats put together a rally, it was a safe bet that Richards either started the rally or contributed a big hit or sacrifice.

Finishing the season with a .338 average, Richards never dropped lower than 10th place the whole season among the area's leading hitters. He batted out seven extra base hits, including five doubles, one triple, and a home run. He drove in 10 runs and scored 14 more for the Bearcats.

Mike Graeber
Shortstop

Stanislaus' junior shortstop Mike Graeber provided the Rocks with steady defensive play and a bothersome bat for opposing pitchers. After hitting near .400 most of the season, Graeber finished with a .333 batting average. His three extra base hits in 20 games attest to the fact that Graeber is not a power hitter but must rely on good bat control to spray hits to all fields. Usually batting in the first or second slot in the Rock lineup, Graeber collected 12 RBI's, showing that he can hit with men on base.

One of the Rocks' leading run producers over the season, he is a scoring threat once he reaches base. He scored 18 runs and stole 12 bases this year.

Niles Blaize
Third Baseman

Niles Blaize, a junior, led the Bay High hitters with a .390 batting average and was among the area's leading hitters all year.

SPORTS

Also a team leader in run production and an Echo Player-of-the-Week selection, Blaize not only can hit for average but can be depended upon to supply power hitting. One of his favorite weapons was the long sacrifice fly which scored runners from third base. His 12 RBI's and five extra base hits in the Tigers' short 14-game schedule are impressive hitting statistics.

A solid fielder who can play any infield position, Blaize will be counted on next year to anchor the Tigers' defense and to supply the same kind of consistent performance in his senior year. He has the strong arm needed to throw out runners from third base and was in fact used occasionally by Coach Claude Yarborough as a relief pitcher.

Myron Cook
Left Fielder

Pass High's Myron Cook, our other sophomore all star selection put together the biggest week of any area player this year when he pounded out eight hits in 15 trips to the plate, including two home runs.

His first homer of the week was a grand slam against Stone County that handed the Tomcats their only regular season loss of the season and helped the Pirates tie Stone in district play. Later in that same week, Cook crashed a three-run homer against d'Iberville and then ended the

Mike Favre
Rightfielder

Mike Favre, a senior at Stanislaus, was the Rocks' leading offensive weapon this year. He led the team in home runs (2), doubles (7), extra bases (9), total bases (38), and total hits (25).

In addition, his RBI total of 20 led all area hitters, and that figure, coupled with his 16 runs scored, made Favre the best run producer in the area. Favre can also hit for average as he tied Monty Elchos for the batting leadership with a .357 average.

He played most of the year behind the plate but had seen limited duty on the mound where he compiled a 2-3 won-lost record and fanned 22 batters.

Tommy McKay
Pitcher

Long Beach's Tommy McKay led all local pitchers with a stingy 0.78 earned run average and a 6-3 won-lost record. He averaged fanning a batter for every inning he pitched, striking out 70 in the 70 innings he worked.

He tossed three shutouts in his nine starts and did not allow an earned run until his fourth start of the year.

Chosen the player-of-the-week when at one point he led all area players in both pitching and hitting, McKay was recently designated as an alternate on the South State All Star Team for the June 13 senior all star game in Jackson.

Also an infielder, McKay finished the season with a .333 batting average and 15 RBI's. He accounted for seven extra base hits.

Donnie Bentz
Pitcher

Pass High's Donnie Bentz, a senior, finished with the second lowest earned run average in the area (1.30) and a miracle 5-5 won-lost record.

The victim of hard luck and a weak defense, Bentz lost several games in which he could not be faulted, including a decision against Slidell and two losses against district foe Stone County. When the team defense held up, Bentz was capable of pitching a masterpiece as was evidenced by his one-hit shutout of Bay High where he struck out nine batters. In that game, he also stroked a two-run homer to provide all the offense he needed to record the win.

An outstanding pressure pitcher, Bentz was chosen by Coach Malcolm Gordon to pitch the Pirates' district playoff game against the Stone Tomcats. Going into the seventh inning of that game, Bentz was pitching a three-hit 2-0 shutout and was beating Stone's fireballing ace, Paul Riels. But the Pirates committed three errors that turned into three unearned runs, and Bentz received still another hard-luck decision.

The Rocks, who were gunning for an even 10-10 season record, jumped out to a four run lead in the first inning when Tiger starting pitcher Tim Favre ran into control problems, giving up three walks and two wild pitches, but Ricky Adams relieved Favre with two out in the first inning and held the Rocks scoreless through the middle innings as the Tigers rallied to take a 9-4 lead.

Trailing 4-0 in the second inning, Bay High loaded the bases with two out, and David Trelles, who was used almost exclusively all year as a pinch runner, grounded a single up the middle to score two runs. Sparked by Trelles' clutch hit, the Tigers added a third run in the inning and then took the lead in the third with two more runs.

In the fifth inning Bay High extended its lead to 8-4 with the big blow coming on Vernon Powell's run-scoring double to center.

The Tigers appeared to have the game wrapped up in the top of the sixth inning when they pushed across another run with a hit batsman and two singles, but in the bottom half of the inning Stanislaus sent 12 men to the plate and scored six times to take a 10-9 lead.

Stanislaus used two errors and a base on balls to load the bases with one out, and Rock pitcher Dan Ford stroked a line drive single to left field to score two runs. Rock left fielder, Perry Elchos grounded a two-out bases loaded single to right field that scored two more runs, and Greg Anderson tied the game with still another single. Both Mike Graeber and Monty Elchos walked to force in another run before relief pitcher Adrian Favre retired Donald Corr to end the Stanislaus uprising.

Now it was Bay High's turn for the histrionics. Trelles led off the seventh inning with his second single of the game, and Arnold Fairconnetue reached safely on an error. Trelles advanced to third base with none out and the Tigers appeared to have the tying run in hand. But with one swing of the bat, the Tigers last remaining hopes appeared to die. Adrian Favre lined out to Ford on the mound, and Trelles was easily doubled off third base. The Tigers were down to their last out with a runner at first base. In a questionable decision, the Rocks elected to intentionally walk Bill Ginn, putting the winning run on base with the Tigers leading hitter, Niles Blaize, coming up. Then in another surprise move, the Tigers attempted a double steal. Catcher Mike Favre's throw to third base was wild, and Fairconnetue raced home with the tying run. Ginn also tried to score on the error but

Tigers gun down Rocks in finale, 12-10

By DAVID PIERSON

The Bay High Tigers scored two unearned runs in the ninth inning to gun down the Stanislaus Rocks 12-10 in a western-style shootout at Rockachaw Park Saturday afternoon. It was the final game of the season for both teams.

The Rocks, who were gunning for an even 10-10 season record, jumped out to a four run lead in the first inning when Tiger starting pitcher Tim Favre ran into control problems, giving up three walks and two wild pitches, but Ricky Adams relieved Favre with two out in the first inning and held the Rocks scoreless through the middle innings as the Tigers rallied to take a 9-4 lead.

Trailing 4-0 in the second inning, Bay High loaded the bases with two out, and David Trelles, who was used almost exclusively all year as a pinch runner, grounded a single up the middle to score two runs. Sparked by Trelles' clutch hit, the Tigers added a third run in the inning and then took the lead in the third with two more runs.

In the fifth inning Bay High extended its lead to 8-4 with the big blow coming on Vernon Powell's run-scoring double to center.

The Tigers appeared to have the game wrapped up in the top of the sixth inning when they pushed across another run with a hit batsman and two singles, but in the bottom half of the inning Stanislaus sent 12 men to the plate and scored six times to take a 10-9 lead.

Records fall in Stanislaus swim meet

Results of the second intramural swim meet held at St. Stanislaus High School last Thursday saw new records set in every event in the senior division (grades 11-12).

Stanislaus senior Larry Riley topped all swimmers in the meet compiling three individual records.

Riley established school records of 25.2 seconds in the 50-yard freestyle, 31.2 seconds in the 50-yard back stroke, and 31.5 seconds in the 50-yard butterfly stroke. In the only other senior event, Juan Valdano captured a first in the 50-yard breast stroke with a 36.2 second performance, also a new school record.

Riley's mark of 31.2 seconds in the 50-yard back stroke is only two-tenths of a second off the current state record of 31 seconds flat held by Johnny Wald (Cook High School), in 1972.

Stanislaus swimming instructor is Brother Albert Ledet.

Complete results are as follows:

Mail renewal approved for motor boat registration

A law providing for the centralization of motor boat registration in Mississippi was passed in the recent session of the legislature.

Boat owners will no longer have to appear at their local Tax Collector's Office to renew their boat registration. All persons with currently registered boats will receive renewal notices through the mail. Any corrections should be returned to the Boat and Water Safety Commission.

Persons buying boats, or registering them for the first time, can pick up an application any place where boats are sold or serviced. Application forms are also kept at public offices such as the County Sheriff or County Tax Collector's office. The Commission will furnish applications to anyone requesting them.

The centralized motorboat registration system was authorized in an effort to save the boat owner time and money and will afford him better protection against theft since the system will give enforcement agencies more complete records to work with, said a spokesman of the Commission.

Boat owners with currently registered boats should wait until renewal notices are received instead of going to the Tax Collector to renew numbers. These notices should be received on or about June 1, 1975.

Top coaches direct Ole Miss basketball camp

UNIVERSITY, Miss. — Many of the South's top coaches in prep basketball will be featured during the fifth annual Ole Miss basketball camp this summer, June 15-21 for girls and June 22-28 and Aug. 3-9 for boys.

The camps are open to youngsters aged 10 thru high school seniors.

Rebel head basketball coach Robert "Cob" Jarvis will serve as director for the camps. Assistant coaches Bill Bolton and Ken Turner will be assistant directors.

Headlining the high school coaches to serve as clinic instructors for the boys are Billy Wells, coach of state Class A champion Winona along with Larry McKay of Class BB champion Baldwin.

Robert Hooker of South Pontotoc and Lanny Gooch, coaches of perennial girls championship contenders, are among the staff for the girls segment.

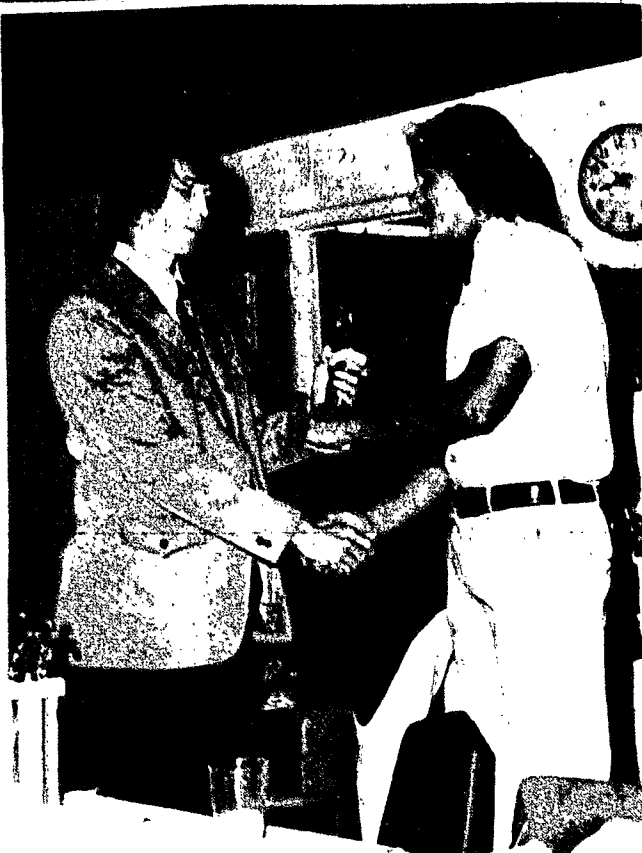

Also on the girls staff will be Pam Davidson, coach of the Ole Miss girls team, veteran successful high school coach Mary Robbins and Cornelia Ward of Hatley, a former All-State performer and a member of Delta State's national title-winning girls team.

Former Mississippi State All-American and professional star Bailey Howell, now a member of the Converse Rubber Company staff will serve as a guest lecturer and instructor.

The camps are sponsored by the Mississippi High School Activities Association and the Mississippi Private Schools Association.

Box 367, Bay St. Louis, MS).

BWYC LUNCHEON - "Tips on Sewing" is the special program planned for the luncheon on Wednesday, May 21. Hostess for the occasion will be Mrs. Juanita Erwin, who has been instructor of Home Economics for many years. Ladies will model wearing apparel that they have made. Happy Hour is at 11:00, luncheon at noon, and the program is at 1:00 p.m.

Bay High athletes honored at banquet

Fourteen Bay High athletes, including Arnold Fairconnetue who garnered honors in three sports, were honored at the Tiger Booster Club's annual awards banquet at the Bay High cafeteria. New Orleans Saint Harry Holmes was guest speaker.

Four most valuable player awards were given in football with Mike Magee getting the most valuable offensive back trophy and Arnold Fairconnetue the outstanding defensive back award. Vernon Powell was named the outstanding defensive lineman and Jamie Fine the most valuable offensive lineman.

Allison Farve and Arnold Fairconnetue both received awards for boys' basketball, and Sandra Lyons and Monica Price for girls' basketball.

In baseball, Bill Ginn was voted the team's most valuable player, and Niles Blaize was given the batting average trophy.

Four awards were given in track and field. Wilford Parker received the boys' most valuable runner award and Arnold Fairconnetue the trophy for the outstanding athlete in field events. Lori Fairconnetue and Vanessa Labat received honors for girls' track and field.

In tennis, Sharon Kidd was named the outstanding girl player and Keith Folse the most valuable boy tennis player.

recollecting Sugar Bowl memories

Sugar Bowl memory still fresh after 36 years

It was 1939 and Carnegie Tech played Texas Christian University in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl, and the memories of that bowl game and the accompanying hospitality of a number of Bay St. Louis people to one Carnegie Tech player were remembered vividly recently in the offices of the Sea Coast Echo newspaper.

The player, Bob Howarth — class of '40 Carnegie Tech — and his lovely wife Ruth, class of '41, were back on the Gulf Coast to visit some of the scenes still fresh in the memory of Howarth, now retired from U. S. Steel in Pennsylvania.

Glancing through the back files of the Echo, Howarth spoke fondly of the people met during a two week stay at St. Stanislaus College where the Carnegie Tech team practiced before the big game.

"The townspeople really had a lot of things planned for us, that we (players) never got to fully enjoy," Howarth said laughingly.

"I missed a big dance with a lot of pretty girls," Howarth told his wife, "because the coaches made us go to bed at 8 o'clock that night."

Howarth was searching the pages of the newspaper for any clues of the names of the some of the people that the team stayed with.

"I can't remember the name of the family I stayed with," Howarth said, "only that they had a lovely house near a big pond."

The newspaper listed faithfully all of the activities planned for the visiting players and the daily agenda of activity planned for the team during its two week practice.

Howarth copied a few of the reports down on a piece of paper explaining that he wanted to remember "some of the things I did."

Still looking youthful, the inevitable question was asked, "Who won the game?"

"Oh, we lost the game 15-8," he laughed. But at least for Howarth the score was lost in the memories of that Christmas in Bay St. Louis.

USM stadium honors former graduate

HATTIESBURG—The football stadium now under construction at the University of Southern Mississippi was dedicated to Dr. M.M. Roberts, former distinguished member of the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning, at ceremonies on the campus May 10.

Dr. William D. McCain, USM president, dedicated the stadium to Dr. Roberts at the Sports Hall of Fame Banquet Saturday night.

Costing in excess of $6 million, the project is a totally rebuilt stadium on the same site but considerably enlarged to encompass additional campus area.

Seating 36,500 spectators, the arena may be site of some games next season, but the dedication game has been set against Ole Miss Sept. 4, 1976.

"Dr. Roberts has been largely responsible for this University's receiving its share of funds appropriated by the legislature," said Dr. McCain. "He is one of the strongest supporters of USM that exists anywhere."

Dr. McCain said that when he became president of USM that the institution received the lowest financial support of Mississippi colleges but that now the University receives funds on the same plane as the other universities in the state.

A native of Jackson County, Dr. Roberts entered the University of Southern Mississippi, then Mississippi Normal College, in 1914 and received his diploma in May of 1918. He received the Bachelor of Science degree from Mississippi State University in 1921.

After several years in the public schools, Dr. Roberts resigned as superintendent of schools at the Agricultural High School at Leakesville to enter the University of Mississippi Law School. He received the Bachelor of Laws degree in 1926.

In 1931 he received the Master of Arts degree from George Peabody College for Teachers. He returned to USM to receive the Doctor of Philosophy degree in 1964.

He is a former president of the Mississippi Bar Association, a member of the American College of Trial Lawyers, and a fellow of the International College of Trial Lawyers.

Dr. Roberts served for 12 years on the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning, two of them as president.

SPORT TALK

By Charlie Henderson
Q. What's the lowest score ever made for a 72-hole golf tournament?

A. There have been lower totals on short courses, but the record for a first class, championship course is held by Mike Souchak. The ex-football star shot rounds of 60, 68, 64 and 65, for a 72-hole total of 257, to win the Texas Open at San Antonio back in 1955.

Q. How much money do the golf pros play for these days?

A. The record for official prize money in Tournament Players Division events was set in 1974, with players taking home $7,030,000 in some 40 TPD tournaments. The total dropped in 1975 for the first time in two decades, but it figures to go up again. That total, by the way, doesn't count the U. S. Open, PGA and Masters, which aren't TPD events.

Q. Here's an oldie for football fans. Who won the first Jim Thorpe trophy as most valuable NFL player?

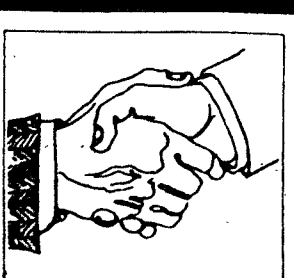

A. Harland Hill, who had a sensational but short career with the Chicago Bears, was the first winner, in 1955.

If you're still driving an oldie, why not trade it in now on a goodie, a brand new Ford or A-1 Used Car. We're making sensational spring deals now, and the selection was never better.

KETCHUM

By L.S. (Dec) Elliott

Had five days of good weather for fishing, but the tide is still not exactly right and is still falling late in the afternoon. Next week should be better. Pearl River is still high but falling gradually. The recent rains around Picayune didn't help too much. The same thing applies to Pearl River. Rains at Jackson cause plenty of water which has to go somewhere. It comes down Pearl River to our section. But we hope the "mighty Pearl" will clear soon. All tributaries of the Pearl River are some of our best fresh water streams, even Pearl River itself.

Salt water fishing is picking up. According to Mrs. Arnold Lowe, of LaFrance's Fishing Camp at Ansley on Campbell's Bayou.

Red fish have been caught most every where for the past couple of weeks. Good places to catch them are at Grand Plane at the mouth of upper and lower Campbell's Bayou, little and Big Grassy, opposite the mouth of Pearl River; Pole cat Bend or the shore line of Little Lake and Heron Bay.

Two fishermen who have been catching them are Perre Quintini and Alden Mauffray. They have been using cut shrimp and live monnows on shad rigs. Some folks have been getting them while fishing on the bottom. You can go out of La France's Camp where you can launch your boat or rent a skiff.

Here is something I think is interesting. Met a wonderful guy recently, A.F. Roehm. A. F. loves to fish and most of all loves to play pool. Only last week he won playing in the pool tournament sponsored by Chap Richardson at the Flamingo Lounge beating 21 young contestants. He is just 36 years old. Six years my senior.

Saw Erwin Ballard last week in the Big City. Erwin is one of our older crayfish catchers. He took me crayfishing years ago and gave me some pointers on how to catch these highly edible crustaceans. Ready to go again, Erwin.

Got acquainted with Dr. Hirofumi Kambara and his assistant V. Davis. When asked do you go fishing, Doc said "No time for nothing except work." Dr. is one of my wife's doctors. He is doing a swell job.

Found out that Jim Kenney is a wonderful photographer. He attends weddings because he has too. But said he would rather be out fishing. Can't blame you, Jim.

John and Juddy Fornea have a home in Belle Isle at Pearlinton. Both love their fishing. Have been catching plenty perch at Mullato Bayou. Just a stone's throw from their home.

Mrs. Mildred Marchesseau of New Orleans is the mother of Bobby Trelles. Mrs. Marchesseau does oil painting and loves to paint pictures of fish instead of catching them.

Talk about bream (perch) Dan Dawson and Nick Elliott caught 84 in 1 hour and 45 minutes at Retreat Village on Biloxi River. Must really be in that neck of the woods.

Dan and Sylvia Dawson and Gayree and Louann Boronne are two swell couples. They all fish together and the men folks hunt when the seasons are on.

Pee Wee Ballard loves his fishing. He is at Keesler Air Force Base at Biloxi. Plenty good fishing around here Pee Wee said. Know what you're talking about partner.

Danny Call at Houston, Texas catches big bass at Toledo Bend. He is the son of Richard and Mrs. Call of Waveland. They are going in two weeks to visit their son and do some fishing.

Mrs. Liz Latour told me, if you want to catch fish or cray fish they are in the ditches along the roads at Bay Side Park.

Michael Mohr and Dorothy Daigle are a perfect young couple. Their hobbies are playing tennis and swimming. Met them at a wedding reception in the big city last week.

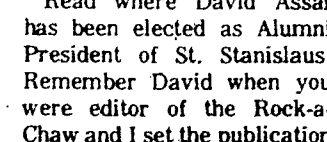

Had the pleasure of having Bryan and Elsie Haggerty as guests one night last week. Bryan is stationed at Eglin Air Force Base, Florida. He is an Airman First Class and they are going to Germany in August for a four year hitch. They expect to come back for some fishing before going overseas.

Will probably have to go to New Orleans the end of this month. We have five grand children graduating at that time.

The Fish and Game Commission restocked Jourdan River with 25,000 large mouth bass fingerlings recently. The fish were placed in the stream by local politicians.

Remember when the same thing was done by such old time fishermen as Bob Genin, Oscar Bragg, Bob Mitchell, C. C. McDonald, Fred Wright, myself and others. This was needed to keep Jourdan River the haven for bass fishing it has always been. You did a great job fellows, thanks.

Read where David Assaf has been elected as Alumni President of St. Stanislaus. Remember David when you were editor of the Rock-a-Chaw and I set the publication while working for The Echo? Kinder back, eh, David.

The Sea Coast Echo Player of the Week

Niles Blaize of Bay High rapped out five hits in nine at bats last week to raise his average to .390, the second best average among local players.

Blaize, who is a junior, got two of the three Tiger hits off Bearcat hurler Tommy McKay in a contest earlier in the week. In the season finale, Blaize went three-for-six, including the game-winning single that downed the Stanislaus Rocks Saturday 12-10.

Blaize led the Tigers in most of the offensive departments this year and was selected as the West Gulf Coast All Star Team's third baseman.

CoCo Hill wins at Oak Downs

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo)

PEARL RIVER, La. - Van Fol Mike is not the only horse owned and trained by James Watson of Bay St. Louis that knows how to get his nose to the finish line first.

In the feature race of the day last Sunday at Oak Downs, CoCo Hill, another Watson horse, turned in a Class A clocking of 16.25 seconds to finish first in the six-horse 300-yard sixth race.

Riding CoCo Hill to victory was Joey Schwankhart, Oak Downs' leading jockey.

Van Fol Mike, a horse that had won six straight races for Watson at the Louisiana track, is expected to return to action this Sunday. "Mike" was bumped coming out of the starting gate two weeks ago in the feature race and finished third - his first loss in two months.

Other highlights Sunday included a new meet record for the three-furlong distance, Uncle Bill, owned and trained by Eddie Trammell and ridden by Ralph Shubert, was timed in 36.93 seconds.

The previous best mark of the meet was held by Missy's Filly, owned and trained by W. J. Cameron of Bay St. Louis. Missy's Filly ran the three furlongs in 37.28 seconds March 16.

Turning in Class A clockings also last Sunday were Rocky's Tonto, 18.83, in the 350-yard 10th, and Dial Mark Fiesta, 18.785, in the 350-yard 11th.

Here's a listing of the 1975 meet records at Oak Downs: 220 yards - South Dallas, 12.78, April 20.

250 yards - Red Top Winnie, 13.615, March 2.

300 yards - Perry's Gem, 16.13, Feb. 2.

330 yards - Cotton's Gambler, 17.735, Feb. 9.

350 yards - Red Top Winnie, 18.24, Feb. 9.

400 yards - Tail Win, 21.09, March 2.

440 yards - Blue Devil Deck, 23.14, March 2.

3 furlongs - Uncle Bill, 36.93, May 11.

5 furlongs - Boundaround, 1:04.675, March 2.

6 furlongs - B. J. Marty, 1:19.08, April 20.

Sunday's results:

1) 3 furlongs, Bashful Scholar, 38.545 seconds, Eddie Zundel, owner and trainer; Carl Hilliker, jockey. Windfield Road, 38.87, Missy of Sunle, 39.26.
